

My family and I were going to hollywood. We were the airport. I noticed that a person in a dark hoodie was following us. I thought they just had to go the same way as us so I just ignored it. My mom interrupted my thinking and said "Dear unkind do you have to go to the washroom we are going on the plane soon" . " Ummm I guess" I went to the restroom and I was in the stall I looked down. I saw the jet black shoes that the person was wearing. Sweating I did not want to come out. We were the only people that were in the the washroom. Stopped wanting for the person to leave. Got out of the the stall I went to my parents and went on the plane 2 hours later we were in Hollywood.
